HOLD FIRST MEETING.

The new I. O. O. F. building on Second-st. is almost finished, and the lodge held its first meeting in the new hall last Friday evening. Some time was required to transfer all the furniture and fixtures from the old hall in the Huffman brick; but the lodge is now comfortably quartered in its new home.

HOLIDAY DANCE.

The dance given at Hotel Jefferson by the Pikeville Dancing Club last Friday evening was a social event of considerable prominence. It was given in celebration of the New Year and also in honor of the formal opening of the recently completed addition to the hotel. Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Gray, proprietors of the hotel, the guests of the club were royally entertained until after the advent of the New Year. Several out-of-town guests were present and among them were:

Miss Oma Vaughan, J. F. Prindible and daughter, Miss Loretta, of Paintsville; Messrs. Chas. Keyser, of Keyser Station; Scott Harkins of Prestonsburg; Messrs. Thompsons, Buck, Gooch and Rutter of the B. & O. engineering corps. Refreshments were served.

PROSPECTS FOR BUILDING.

One of the most active periods in the building history of Pikeville will follow this summer, according to reliable information. It has been learned that contracts will be let for the erection of several business houses and additions to houses now standing. Also, some activity in the building of residences has been planned for.

GRAY HOME BURNED.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gray on Second-st. was nearly destroyed by fire last Monday morning. The cause of the fire is not definitely known though it is thought to have been caused by a burning coal from the grate rolling out on the floor in one of the rooms of the second story.

Part of the furniture was removed to safety, but the remainder was ruined by water and smoke. All of the outer walls of the building were saved except the northern wall, and it was on this side that the flames first made their appearance.

Organized Department Needed. This fire teaches a dear but valuable lesson. All fire-fighting apparatus was on the job only a few moments after the alarm was given, and an ample supply of everything needed to combat the fire was at hand, including two large hose reels, plenty of water under high pressure, and willing hands to aid in the work. But there was a sad lack of that kind of organization which produces efficiency. In many cases of fire in this town more destruction is done by water than by flame. No small town in Kentucky is better supplied with the means of combating a fire than Pikeville, but when the occasion comes no one seems to know how to make proper use of it. There is no doubt that it would be a good investment for the city to have a salaried fire chief who can devise a system, including signals, by which the most can be saved while doing the least damage.

ELIZA CHARLES SUICIDES.

Eliza Charles, aged about 20, who was born and reared on Raccoon creek, in this county, ended her own life by the internal application of poison, probably strychnine, at the Polley farm near Coal Run last Sunday afternoon. She was staying at the Polley home, and it is said had spent most of the afternoon in reading in one of the well lighted basement rooms. According to her dying story it is said she confessed to taking poison and said that she had thrown the bottle into the furnace, but refused to tell what she had taken. The symptoms were those of strychnine poisoning. She was seized with violent cramps, and her screams brought several persons, but antidotes administered were ineffective. Coroner Carvins was called from Pikeville, and the inquest was held a few hours after death, the verdict being death at her own hands.

This is said to have been Miss Charles' third attempt at suicide. A few years ago when she was a very young girl it is said she attempted to hang herself, and last spring she made the second attempt with carbolic acid, but was saved by the prompt administration of alcohol and other antidotes.

The faculty is practically the same as that employed last year, though the attendance has largely increased. The school stands on an excellent footing and teachers and pupils are doing splendid work.

Pikeville college also opened Tuesday morning with a large increase in attendance over last year. As soon as some preparations can be made the new manual training (or trades course) department will be opened to the students and arrangements are rapidly being closed for the opening of the new agricultural department. Practically all that now remains to be done is to select a capable professional head for this department.

AQUILLA NAHF HERE.

This city was honored with a visit from Mr. Aquilla Nahf, distinguished soldier and citizen of the Republic, last Tuesday. Mr. Nahf is now 82, and he served as a drummer boy with Gen. Taylor in the Mexican campaign, and he again served with one of the Pennsylvania regiments during the Civil war, at the close of which he was elected to the U. S. Senate for the state of Pennsylvania. He speaks German, and is thoroughly conversant with matters of history, as well as having been an intimate acquaintance with General Lee and President Davis, and other leaders of the time.

He is now visiting William Abbott and other friends at Shebana.

BRIDGE OVER TUG; STATE AID WANTED.

Reliable information has it that authorities of Mingo-co, West Va., who some time ago agreed to advance part of the funds for the building of a free bridge across the Tug river so as to connect Pike-co., Ky., with William son, W. Va., are now ready to sign a formal agreement with the Pike-co. authorities, so that the bridge may be built. This is to say, the bridge will be built at once and such a passway will be beneficial alike to the people of both states. The authorities at Pikeville have expressed a willingness to advance the fund promised by this county and to start the work of building at once. The new Mingo authorities, we are pleased to say, are taking the same view of it.

While the bridge project is a success the possibility of having better roads in this county at half cost is also in good prospect. The state, under the plan of what is known as State Aid, stands ready to advance half the fund necessary for building a thoroughly substantial system of roads in this county. In other words, for every dollar that Pike-co. will put into her own roads, the state will put in an equal amount. Any business man would know this to be a good proposition. The officers of the county favor better roads, but they cannot act without the consent of the people. We should think a few petitions forwarded to the authorities at Pikeville would be a sufficient expression of the popular will. If citizens will agitate the measure and see that the petitions are forwarded, it may have the desired effect of starting the Good Roads Machinery.

LATER: The fact that the Fiscal Court of Pike-co. has arranged to accept state aid in road building, but more of the citizens' co-operation with the officials is needed to secure the desired results.

COURT OFFICERS APPOINTED.

The first term of the Pike Circuit Court under Judge John F. Butler, who was sworn in last Monday, will begin Monday, Feb. 21st, and is to be a six weeks term, with a possibility of extension. Attorney J. J. Moore has been appointed to serve as the new Master Commissioner of the court, and Peter W. Day was appointed as the new Trustee of the Jury Fund.

This term of the court will see the re-opening of the investigation into election irregularities believed to have been committed in violation of law and binding agreements at the last November election; but the February investigation will look for the briber as well as the bribed.

Judge Butler believes that with proper legislative aid, election corruption in this county can be stamped out, and he has expressed a determination to do everything within the limit of honest and lawful means to that end.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BIBLE INSTITUTE.

The annual Bible Institute of the Baptist church of this city is in session this week and will close Sunday evening. So far the institute has attracted a large gathering at both morning and evening services to hear many of Kentucky's distinguished Baptists.

At the session this afternoon Revs. J. M. Morgan, W. C. Pierce and T. J. Pope, the latter from Prestonsburg, will be heard, and at the evening service today Rev. W. C. Pierce will again be heard on the subject, "Does the New Testament teach that the ministry should be supported?"

LETCHER COUNTY AND WHITESBURG.

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

WHITESBURG, KY., Jan. 6.—

Relatives of Uncle Wiley Webb, who died at Mayking a week ago kept up the body until Thursday owing to the fact that some of his children, at a distance could be given time to reach here. D. Wesley Webb, of Kingston, Madison county, and Ed L. Webb of Portland, Tenn., arrived Wednesday. A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral and interment in the old Webb cemetery near Mayking.

Major John A. Webb, a son was going through the old papers of Uncle Wiley on Sunday. Among the time-worn old documents were receipts from the Auditor of the State for Sheriff's settlements made by his father Benjamin Webb three-quarters of a century or more ago while Sheriff of the county. Uncle Wiley also served the county as Sheriff some time before the civil war. He was a splendid official.

Results of the Christmas day shooting in Letcher county was the arrest of Carl Akeman a brother of Kelley Akeman charged with complicity in the severe wounding of young Charley Sumpter. Both are being held here to await investigation by the grand jury which meets here next week. Until whiskey is stamped out such hideousness will be of frequent occurrence.

The Letcher County Board of Supervisors, including Eld. D. M. Maggard, W. H. Potter, S. P. Jenkins, R. O. Brashers and John R. Holcomb, met here Monday and will investigate the lating for taxation of land in the county. Owing, it is said, to the very low listing of lands, and its great value due to developments, there will be considerable raising of property values.

Aunt Mary Brahea, aged nearly 80, mother of Mrs. Charles Blair and Mrs. P. H. Blair of Colly died at the home of Mrs. Blair at Thornton in this county after a brief illness of a gripe and its ravages on Sunday afternoon. The interment took place Monday afternoon in the old Blair cemetery near here.

It is said here that Henry T. Day, Judge of Letcher county is to call an election for late in March for the voting of a $200,000 bond issue for road building in Letcher county, which is to be continued until the county will have one of the best systems of public roads in Eastern Kentucky. It is believed the issue will now carry easy enough although bonds went down in defeat at the regular election in 1914. The people of the county are now getting wise to good roads and will spare no pains to get a system.

One of the most sensational weddings, although expected, occurred at Blackey below here in this county last week when Attorney D. D. Fields, aged 62, nestor of the Whitesburg bar and best known attorney was married to Miss Mattie Adams, aged about 30, popular and efficient telephone operator in the Whitesburg central office where she has been employed for over three years. The wedding was scheduled for the 31st the couple hid themselves away a few days in advance and were married in the quiet. Their most intimate friends were not aware of the plans. On Saturday morning the happy couple left for extensive honeymoon to Lexington and Cincinnati.

At McRoberts a few days ago Mr. D. P. Looney of Belcher, Pike county, a clerk in the store there was married. Friends of Attorney French Hawk and Mrs. Minnie L. Venters were surprised a few days ago when it was announced that they were married in the parlors of the Whitesburg Hotel, Nov.

7 by Eld. Robert Blair of the Baptist church. The secret was well kept. Friends are congratulating them.

Miss Octavia Johnson, aged 17, the pretty daughter of Joel M. Johnson, the Rev. J. E. Craft officiating. Only a few invited friends witnessed the wedding.

As the new year advances considerable speculation is rife as to the railroad building the construction of branch lines, which will be accomplished during the year. The most probable will be an important branch line up Colly creek which will tap rich holdings of The Mineral Development Co., a Philadelphia corporation. The survey was made last year and every indication points to the construction of this important branch this year.

Marriage license issued this week are as follows: D. P. Looney, 25, Pike-co., to Miss Octavia Johnson.

J. A. Creesh, 50, Harlan, to Miss Louisa Fields, 19. William Hall, 19, to Anna McCray, 17. Walter Hall to Stella Kiser. W. C. Fowler, 27, to Jane Meade, 21. Willie Morton, 18, Knott-co., to Miss Cora Madden, 17. G. W. Francis, 32, to Miss Alice M. Arnold, 22. G. B. Marra, 25, to Miss Sarah Jenkins, 20.
